

SF Bay Collaborative Research Network

Spring 2024

A UCSF-supported partnership of community clinicians, practices, and researchers

Annual Meeting Now Available Online!

Thank you to all who attended our annual meeting on April 29th. The meeting theme was Housing, Labor, and Health Care: Mapping the Future of Community-Engaged Research and Action. 300 of you registered, and well over 200 attended in person. Participants and presenters included community partners and collaborators from across the state of California.

For those who missed it or who would like to either view recordings or review posters that were presented, they can be accessed at: http://consult.ucsf.edu/sfbaycrn.

A huge thank you to all our community partners and collaborators. The 2024 Annual Meeting was a well-received and wonderful opportunity to connect with all of you.

Michael Potter, MD SFBayCRN Director

Saji Mansur, MPH SFBayCRN Coordinator small group discussions about real-world research challenges experienced by UCSF researchers working in partnership with the community. We heard many practical ideas about what UCSF and CTSI can do to address these challenges, starting with advocating for greater representation of community partners and their research priorities on our institutional advisory boards, more research training and resources for prospective research partners, and more assistance cutting through regulatory and administrative barriers to collaboration. Your ideas have been shared with our CTSI leaders and will be incorporated into plans for our upcoming CTSI grant renewal proposal.
